What do you do when your wife abducts your children?

This was the question facing Douglas Galbraith when, in 2003, he returned home to Scotland from a few days' work in London.

The house was silent, empty and locked; his four and six-year-old sons' pyjamas lay on the bedroom floor. And on the doormat, confirmation from the Post Office of a forwarding address - in Japan. He has not seen them since.

This book goes to the very heart of relations between parents and children, men and women, and between races and nations - to the heart of what it is to be alive.

As a pupil, I exactly feel bored in order to read. If their teacher expected them to go to the library as well as to make a summary for some e-book, they are complained. Just very little students that have reading's heart and soul or real their hobby. They just do what the educator wants, like asked to the library. They go to the library now but nothing reading really. Any students feel that examining is not important, boring as well as can't see colorful photographs on there. Yeah, it is for being complicated.
