Excerpt from North Carolina Supplement

1. Bound North Carolina, naming both political and natural boundaries. 2. Find the location of the states on the political, physical, and relief maps of the United States. 3. Name in order the states bordering on the Atlantic Ocean. 4. Compare the latitude of Raleigh with that of Nashville, Oklahoma City, Santa Fe, Tokio, Teheran, Malta, Tangier. 5. How many miles is your home south of New York? Of Chicago? Of Seattle? Of London? North of New Orleans? Of Havana? East of St. Louis? Of San Francisco? 6. Measure by the scale of miles the approximate length of each of the four boundaries of the state. 7. Draw an outline map of North Carolina.

The state of North Carolina occupies the central and broadest part of the Atlantic border region, extending from the crest of the Great Smoky Mountains to the sea. It thus includes within its borders portions of three distinct physiographic regions of the United States, -the Appalachian Ranges, the Piedmont Plateau, and the Atlantic Coastal Plain. These three distinct natural divisions of the state were readily recognized by the earliest inhabitants, who settled first in the Low Country, moved later into the Up-Country, and finally peopled the Mountains; and these are the names by which these three divisions are to-day known to the people of the state.

The eastern and western boundaries of North Carolina are naturally fixed by the Atlantic Ocean and the Unaka or Great Smoky Range. This range presents a fairly continuous front to the northwest, and reaches a far greater average altitude than any other range in the entire Appalachian system of mountains. It separates North Carolina from Tennessee. The length of this western border line of mountains is approximately 225 miles, while the eastern shore line is 325 miles in length. The northern and southern boundaries of the state, on the other hand, were not fixed by nature, but are merely conventional lines marked out by man. The northern boundary, separating North Carolina from Virginia, is a due east and west line extending for approximately 325 miles along the parallel of 36 33 north latitude. The southern border, separating North Carolina from South Carolina and Georgia, is a broken line about 375 miles in length, beginning in latitude 33 50' north, and extending with differing courses to the west. The 35th parallel of latitude, which forms a part of the southern boundary of North Carolina, passes through Oklahoma, northern Arizona, Japan, and the Mediterranean Sea.

The total area of the state is 52, 286 square miles, of which 3620 square miles are water. The extreme length of the state from east to west is 502 miles, and its greatest width, from Little River Inlet northward to the Virginia line, is 188 miles. If we consider the extreme southern point at Cape Fear on Smith's Island (called also Palmetto Island), the greatest width of the state is 200 miles.

1. In what standard time belt is North Carolina situated? 2. When it is noon at Wilmington, what time is it in Savannah? In Chicago? In Denver? In San Francisco? In London? 3. Compare the Area (see appendix) with that of Alabama, New York, Wisconsin, Washington, England, Roumania.
